Waukesha wants to be your power transformer partner, serving as an extension of your company and helping you make the right transformer decisions for your business.

What you need, when you need it

As the largest U.S. manufacturer of power transformers with over 35 years of experience, our manufacturing teams are well-trained in utilizing sophisticated, computer-controlled equipment and test systems which help maintain consistent quality and flexibility throughout the manufacturing process. In addition, Waukesha Electric Systems has one of the shortest production cycles in the industry, allowing for fast response time to tight delivery schedules.

Put our technical experts to work for you

Waukesha Electric Systems employs a large number of industry experts to help you determine what needs to happen to keep power flowing smoothly through your transformers. From specification review, to our extensive database of existing engineered designs all the way through to installation and comprehensive maintenance on virtually any manufacturer's brand, we can be your "go to" technical resource for anything related to power transformers.
